OCCUPATIONAL HEALTH IN AGRICULTURE: THERE IS A NEED TO IMPLEMENT ERGONOMIC PROGRAMS IN COLOMBIA

Many studies worldwide show that low productivity due to stress can cause not only a harmful workload, but also an unhealthy collaborative space for all workers. In this sense, data from the WHO indicate that depression, anxiety and stress disorders cost the world economy more than 1 trillion dollars annually in lost productivity. Equiss group develops Ergonomic programs that improve work environments for the benefit of All.
